INTRODUCTION

LEANDER PUBLIC ARTS COMMISSION

The Leander Public Arts Commission was established by Ordinance by the City Council in 2008. The Commission's mission is to promote public art and education that contributes to a sense of community. Commissioners are appointed by the Council and the Commission may consist of up to seven members, each of which serves a four-year term.

Commission funding sources include utility bill donations, a percentage of certain City capital improvement projects, voluntary donations by private capital improvement project developers and other private donations or grants.

MASTER PLAN PURPOSE & PROCESS

The purpose of the plan is to provide a five-year vision for public art in Leander. The vision was developed through the efforts of service-minded volunteers on the Public Arts Commission, public input and the support of the City Council.

The process began in January 2013 when the Commission crafted a community-wide survey that was implemented in March and April. The survey was publicized in the print media and city website, and hard copies were made available at City Hall, the Leander Public Library, Parks & Recreation Office and the Chamber of Commerce Office.

Draft goals and objectives were developed from public input received through the survey and open houses were held November 14 and 19, 2013 to allow public comment on the draft goals and objectives.

A draft Master Plan was then prepared based on input received and made available to the public for comment. The plan was endorsed by the Public Arts Commission July 14, 2014 and adopted by the City Council _____ 2014.

ABOUT LEANDER

Location

Leander lies on the northeast edge of the Texas Hill Country, roughly ten miles west of Interstate 35 on US 183, approximately 30 miles northwest of Austin, Texas. The city has grown from 7,600 residents in 1995 to more than 32,000 in 2014.

Affordability and the quality of life have been the historical drivers for the community's growth. Single-family homes run the gamut from starter homes to executive-style living. The Leander Independent School District (LISD) provides schools for Leander and LISD is one of the fastest growing school districts in the state, educating more than 35,000 students at its 38 campuses.

Climate

Leander gets an average of 34 inches of rain per year while the US average is 37 inches. The number of days with measurable precipitation is 78. On average there are 229 sunny days each year with July being the hottest month (96 degrees) and January the coolest (36 degrees).

History

The City of Leander was originally called Bagdad when it was established July 17, 1882. The first settlers arrived in the area in 1845, receiving bounty land grants in exchange for military service during the Texas Revolution. These settlers lived in log cabins and were frequently subjected to being attacked by Indians that also called the area home. If it had not been for the many Indian attacks, the area of Bagdad would probably have been settled earlier. The frequent attacks required Texas Ranger protection, so one of the first buildings constructed in Williamson County was built to house the Texas Rangers.

During the 1850's, the town of Bagdad was surveyed and many businesses began opening. One of the first stores was a blacksmith shop. The first post office was opened in 1858. Although Leander's location was somewhat isolated, an abundance of water and timber attracted many settlers. Farming became the mainstay of the area with settlers growing much of their own food and making most of their own clothing.

During the Civil War many men left to join the Confederate forces. At the end of the war most of the men returned to the community along with many freed slaves. Bagdad Cemetery was established in 1857 with the burial of three-year old John Babcock whose father gave the community the tract of land where the cemetery now exists. Other earlier burials included Civil War veterans. The United Methodist Church was established in 1860.

Bagdad was also a stop on the stage line from Austin to Lampasas. By the 1870's, Bagdad had a hotel, school, several general stores, two blacksmith shops and several churches. In 1871 the first school was started by the Masonic Lodge and it was the only free school in the area. Church socials played an important role in the lives of the settlers and they were the main form of entertainment at that time.

The Railroad Comes Through

By the 1880's many changes were on the way. The railroad industry expanded to Texas with plans to build tracks through Bagdad's downtown area. Citizens opposed the railroad, so the Austin & Northwestern Railroad officials decided instead to build the tracks one mile east of town. Soon after the railroad was completed and the townspeople realized they had made a mistake and relocated the town next to the railroad tracks.

The area was surveyed, lots were sold by the railroad and the new town of Leander was established in 1882. The town was named after Leander "Catfish" Brown, who was one of the men who was responsible for completion of the railroad line. The post office was brought from Bagdad to Leander in 1882 and the first bank, Humble & Chapman, was established. Doctor and lawyers' offices and a drug store joined the new community, and in 1883 the Leander Presbyterian Church was established. The cedar post business was prospering with most of the posts being shipped out on the railway. Ranching and farming were increasing, cotton was the main crop and soon Wesley Craven and J. Sampley built cotton gins.

The population in Leander in the early 1890's was estimated to be around 329 people. In 1893 the first public schools opened in both Leander and Bagdad. On June 7, 1899 the Leander High School Association incorporated under Texas law and the school was formed without profit for a period of 50 years.

The population in the 1890's dropped to 283 and mules moved the Methodist Church to its present location in 1901. Farming was still the main activity and life was centered on the schools and churches. Baseball teams and community theater were both quite popular at this time. School only went to the 10th grade and if you wanted to study further you had to go to Liberty Hill or Georgetown. In 1919 A.K. Davis went to Mexico to bring workers to the Leander area. He brought back many families - some of which became American citizens and Williamson County's earliest Hispanic settlers.

The Depression Hits Leander

When the depression hit the population dropped to 200. The schools continued to grow and they consolidated with Pleasant Hill in 1928. After the school burned down in 1938 the district continued growing and consolidated with Round Mountain and Volente in 1938 and then with Nameless. Whitestone joined the district in 1952. The school was still the most important part of the community and churches provided the social life where gatherings were held.

Many young men left to join the war effort during World War II. Locals had to adjust to sugar rationing and they organized watch groups to report any sightings of enemy aircraft to authorities. During this time traveling shows would set up at Brushy and Willis Streets for entertaining the townspeople. Three more churches were established during the 1940's (St. Mary Margaret Catholic Church, Leander Church of Christ, First Baptist Church of Leander). Citizens banked at the 1st State Bank of Leander and Barnes & Jones Lumber Company well a well-established business. During the 1950's the population had risen back to around 300. There were three stores that provided groceries and goods (MacFarland Grocery, The Red & White Store, Hub Powell's). Housing subdivisions began to develop in the late 1950's and early 1960's. A new high school was built in 1969, but the population was still only around 300. Many citizens worked in Austin with Highway 183 being a major thoroughfare for commutes to Austin and shopping trips to Austin were becoming common by this time.

On January 21, 1978 the City of Leander was incorporated, Joe Bates was the first mayor and the city was continuing to grow more rapidly. Subdivisions were being built west of the city where the water and sewer systems were available. The city continued to grow into the 1980's and additional schools were built in the Cedar Park area. LISD was experiencing tremendous growth and a new city hall was established along with some new additions in the downtown area. With all of this growth Leander continued to be a mostly rural community.

With more homes being build in west Leander the population was 3,398 by 1990. LISD was growing rapidly and build its second high school in Cedar Park. Service shops and fast food establishments began to locate in Leander and the Crystal Falls Municipal golf Course was built.

Leander Today

Leander presently has a population is estimated at over 33,000. LISD has grown into the largest school district in Williamson County and the fastest growing district in the State of Texas. It presently has five high schools, eight middle schools, 24 elementary schools and two alternative schools. It encompasses the Cities of Leander, Cedar Park, Jonestown and parts of northwest Austin. New businesses are on their way and the residential growth experienced over the past few years is phenomenal. A long-term water supply is now secure for City residents and an expanded wastewater treatment plant is on-line. The city continues to expand its roadway network, including the 183A Tollway. Three new parks are in the planning stages, and numerous high-end residential developments are being constructed throughout the city.

- I would like to see OTHER TYPES OF ART in our public spaces.
 - Poetry reading.
 - The draw to Leander is its proximity to Austin while being affordable for families. I think this area would support a great deal more culture than is being offered - especially if it is affordable.
 - There's room for a farmer's market type area as well (though I'm not sure you all mean the foodie culture).
 - I have a book on Texas outdoor sculptures organized by town. My sister's city, Farmersville, is in it. Leander is not, but Leander is larger than Farmersville.
 - Need both permanent and temporary exhibits.
 - I miss seeing the fabulous themed displays at City Hall in the Council Chambers. Hope you are able to return these themed displays for all to see.
 - Thank you for all that you do sharing your many talents with the public. We are very blessed to have you.
 - I'd like to see art at bus/metro stops. Art inspires and empowers everyone.

- I would like to see OTHER TYPES OF ART in our public spaces (Continued).
 - Anything that brings community together is good.
 - We much prefer visual arts to concerts and audio arts. Let's leave those to Austin and the Cedar Park Center unless you want to build a building.
 - Take a note from the Benini Sculpture in ranch in Johnson City.
 - It would be nice to have weekend festivals in conjunction with the arts - like the Bluegrass Festival, etc.
 - Would like to see arts and crafts, oil paintings.
 - Children's hands-on learning experiences!
 - Would like to see Leander host various themed art exhibits, especially featuring local artists.
 - Different cultures, sand painting and wood sculpture too.
 - Manufacturing, martial art exhibitions, car shows, motorcycles, animal shows, gardening plants, native cultures and building skills.
 - Ballet, cultural art, and environmental awareness
 - I do not want any of our public funds (and there are no such things - only tax payer funds) providing these items. With only 24% of people actually paying taxes you should be looking at better business encouragement services, lessening the burden of regulation on small business, and getting rid of the eyesores in our community - not wasting money on these items.
 - Children art summer camps.
 - Quilt and craft exhibits
 - It's my opinion that our fine city should not spend money on art in public places. It is a fantastic waste of resources. Rather allow individuals who would want to provide art to the city the opportunity to display for a time in existing buildings. Also, permanent installations are a mistake. Our city needs infrastructure that will bring in more business, not a face lift.
 - Would like to see comedy type concerts.
 - The more art in Leander the better our community will be. Include children's are as well. Involve or schools and teacher.
